Our ranch is one of the oldest guest ranches in the province and its history is rich with a texture that is unique within the tapestry of the Cariboo.

The Cariboo region is rich in historic practices and is a place where life has not changed that much. We do things pretty much the way they have always been done.

Simplicity, neighbourly hospitality, living by the rules that the earth dictates, these are only a few of the enduring ways of life that we offer here in the heart of cattle country.

Stands of Aspen, Jack Pine, and meadows of wildflowers, along with valleys dotted by lakes and cattle lead the way to the mighty Fraser River, extraordinary canyons and mountain ranges where Bighorn Sheep live. All of this is woven together to soothe the soul and call to the spirit.

We are open year round and offer guided horseback riding, pack trips, hiking and camping. Winter is no exception. There are numerous ski trails, lots of open country to open throttle the skidoo across, and if the weather permits, even take the horses out and frolic in the snow.

Our accommodations are simple. There are no television or telephones in any of the guest rooms or cabins. What we want you to experience is the land itself; to escape the modern world, to slow down and introduce yourself to Mother Nature and her way of doing things!
